Part celebration and part angry lament, Fencing the Sky is a memorable debut, the most ambitious and original novel about the modern West to have appeared in some time. A first novel from poet/nonfiction writer Galvin (The Meadow, 1992, etc.) about the ongoing destruction of western rangelands and the decline of the old, land-centered way of life. FENCING THE SKY by James Galvin | Kirkus Reviews "Part celebration and part angry lament, Fencing the Sky is a memorable debut, the most ambitious and original novel about the modern West to have appeared in some time." —Kirkus (starred review) "Galvin writes with laconic precision about a life he obviously knows well...this is an extraordinarily lyrical book." Men's Journal Fencing the Sky: A Novel | IndieBound.org Fencing the Sky is the story of how circumstances spiral out of control, the story of gross indifference and avarice in the face of breathtaking beauty. Ultimately, James Galvin's novel is a book about violence and how it destroys lives when the land is at stake. Fencing the Sky on Apple Books "Part celebration and part angry lament, Fencing the Sky is a memorable debut, the most ambitious and original novel about the modern West to have appeared in some time." —Kirkus (starred review) "Galvin writes with laconic precision about a life he obviously knows well...this is an extraordinarily lyrical book." —Men's Journal Fencing the Sky: A Novel: Galvin, James: 9780312267346 ... Though billed as a novel, Fencing the Sky is in fact a more deeply fictionalized continuation of The Meadow, Galvin's partly historic, partly imagined evocation of a way of life that took hold on an upland Wyoming ranch for a century and then blew away. If The Meadow is elegiac, Fencing the Sky is angry and blackly humorous. This is the grim, greedy '90s, when swaggering developers like Merriwether Snipes ride the range in their ATV's, carving up the old homesteads into 40-acre ranchettes ... 9780805062205: Fencing the Sky: A Novel - AbeBooks ...
